

The Lady in Red: The Arrow Landed, I Know Not Where. (Paperback)

By Stephan M Arleaux

Createspace Independent Publishing Platform, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English. Brand new Book. A woman's body is found in a museum gallery with an arrow through her chest, so all of the other visitors are locked inside while the crime is investigated. It is the noon hour in the Museum Of Art And World Culture in Oxford, England; home of the famous university of kings for a thousand years. The English spoken is naturally quite explicit. The date, May 23, 1953. The weekday, attendance is light; the attendees are scattered between two floors., and the few visitors still lingering among the curiosities of the great museum were suddenly startled a cry rings out from the second floor. And by the sight of one of the attendants running down the broad, central staircase, loudly shouting, "Close the doors! Let no one out! An accident has occurred, and nobody's to leave the building." Scrambling to Section II, the museum director discovers a college age young woman dead with an arrow through her heart. An older woman hovers over her with her hand on the arrow, while whispering incoherent phrases in the young women's ear and offering incomprehensible answers to the...

Reviews

This publication is amazing. It is definitely basic but shocks in the fifty percent of your publication. You wont feel monotony at anytime of your own time (that's what catalogues are for concerning if you question me).

-- Prof. Kirk Cruickshank DDS

This kind of book is every little thing and taught me to looking ahead of time and a lot more. I am quite late in start reading this one, but better then never. I found out this book from my dad and i encouraged this pdf to find out.
